

LUCKY BAMBOO

(biomega.dk)
Biomega's recently designed Biolove bike is lightweight, sturdy, and made from a rapidly renewable, low-impact material. It also has an internally geared rear hub with a "shaft drive" that's more efficient at transmitting energy than an old-fashioned chain.

PEDAL POWER

two for the road

RE-CYCLE-ABLE

frame only, $2,999;
with Shimano XTR components and disc brakes, FOX FRL-80 fork,
and Mavic Crossmax SL wheels, $7,199 (merlinbike.com)
Merlin, maker of high-end titanium bikes, is now participating in a bicycle recycling program. At tradeinbikes.com, you can find out how much your old two-wheeler will contribute to a down payment on their XLM mountain bike, shown.

